Keep your Identification documents in safe and accessible location.

- Identification documents are often required to apply for new Centrelink payments.
- If you have lost your identity documents due to a disaster, an Alternative Identity Form can be used to temporarily establish your identity with Centrelink for the purpose of receiving payments.

Update your Centrelink information – including any change of circumstances and postal address.

- Centrelink recipients must update Centrelink within 14 days of any change in circumstances that might affect their payment.
- This includes relocation and changes in care of children. Updating changes in circumstances reduces the risk of overpayments and future debts.
- Centrelink will sometimes send important notices and correspondence via post, particularly where legislation requires. Centrelink recipients should update their postal address with Centrelink if necessary. Many post offices allow post to be sent to their care.

If you have been forced to leave your principal home- you may be eligible for assets exemptions.

- Most Centrelink payments are subject to asset testing which will impact how much Centrelink will pay you.
- Centrelink recipients who relocate from their principal home due to a disaster can seek to have their home be exempted from the assets test under 'temporary vacation of property' provisions for up to 24 months.
- These exemptions are not automatic and usually need to be requested.
- There are also provisions which allow insurance payouts to be exempted from the assets test.

Seeking a pause of mutual obligations

- Mutual obligations may be automatically paused by Workforce Australia, or can be paused upon individual request of a recipient.
- Workforce Australia's website will provide updated details of locations with paused obligations, check these regularly as they can be changed or extended.

If you have a Centrelink Debt or Compensation Preclusion Period

- Being impacted by a disaster can be considered a 'special circumstance' for the purpose of seeking a compensation preclusion period reduction or waiver of a Centrelink debt. If you would like further information, please contact SSRV.
